
Offer me an email marketing software like this

Posted by Telly - 2012/05/22 08:39

I am looking for email software service that you can either run locally or web based, but provide their own server to send the emails.

The futures should involve:

- Easy-to-use-interface

- A deep offering of templates makes it easy to find design match

- Great customer support

- More templates offered

- Once payment lifelong use

- Track data

free email marketing software is such a software, but i want another so that i can make a difference

=====

Re:Offer me an email marketing software like this Posted by Sophia - 2012/09/03 10:52

To some extent, the success of email marketing campaigns depends on your email newsletter open rates. So you can create great newsletters with the help of newsletter software.

iKode Newsletter server, which is a web-based email marketing software includes everything you need to easily manage your mailing lists and send professional email campaigns. There are no monthly or per email fees, and iKode Newsletter Server install on your web server for complete control.