Freelance Researcher
Posted by R Fitria - 2006/10/02 20:50

Hi,

My name is Rizki, I'm native Indonesian and currently looking for a freelance job, preferably home based. I've done few research study on HIV in Indonesia, and also commercial stuff like alcopop and colour communication.

If you have any market research job or maybe a project (home-based) for me, I'd be very much interested.
Just contact me for further discussion.

Cheers,

Hello Rizki: We are a firm out of Columbus, Ohio. I saw your freelance posting on market research world. We are looking for free lance market researchers to find us stories on the internet. The stories can be from any era and written by any author and from any country. We would prefer English speaking authors. The stories have to deal with hope, inspiration, courage. We would need you to email us the story along with the authors name and the authors contact information. We would pay 50 cents for every story you send us and if we can use the story we would pay you and extra $10 for the story. There is no limit to the amount of stories you can send me. If you are interested send me your resume and also find me a story so that I know you understand the project. The duration of the project is 60 days. We will review the stories you send us after 15 days and if we you are on the right track we will allow you to continue the project. There is no limit to the number of stories you send me. If you send me 100 stories a day you make $50 a day. We will pay you biweekly.

Also if you have other friends who are interested in working on this project please send me their contact information.

present I am associated with Euromonitor Consulting, Siebel Asset Management Research (GreenCay), (and American Business Alliance (ABA) as a freelance research consultant.

I have significant experience in tracking trends and developments in the Technology, Chemical,Pharmaceutical,Telecom, Media and FMCG space especially in U.S, Western Europe and South East Asia and India. I have also written research reports on the Financial Services, Healthcare and Retail sectors. All my research deliverables have been in reports or excel sheets. I am also comfortable in other sectors like biotechnology and hedge fund as I have studied these markets in detail during the course of my career.

My experience includes collecting data from primary and secondary sources, synthesising information, modelling growth trends and presenting deliverables in a well formatted word doent. I have also worked with international market research organisations, equity research analysts, hedge fund managers tracking particular sectors and management consultancies whom I assisted with data collection and analysis for recommendations to clients.

Dear All,

I very well know that I will not succeed without your help/ support.

I started my career with BPO's and then moved onto Research. I have a total experience of about 7years, out of which I have spent more than 3years into Research. I have worked on projects for Forrester, Gartner, Datamonitor, etc. When it comes to Primary Research, I have always been at the top.

Now, I am looking for some freelance work related to Primary Research, Secondary Research, Lead Generation,Data Entry..... anything, just to start with.

I am based in India. My email id- mquamar_zia@hotmail.com, mohd.zia786@gmail.com

Eagerly waiting to hear from you.

Thanks!
Zia.

HI,
I'm Management Professional having over 8 yrs exp.
During the same, I was into Marketing management and performed Market research for customer understanding and buyer variation factor analysis.
Depending on the nature of data required, I performed qualitative and quantitative analysis.

I can perform freelance secondary analysis, as you've mentioned in your articles.

Can you let me know more about the same?
