

What is the Market Research World

Contributed by Editor
Monday, 30 May 2005
Last Updated Monday, 16 January 2006

The Market Research World (MRP) is a free information resource for the market research industry. Various useful information and articles can be found. It aims to appeal to all users - researchers, market research buyers, graduates etc...

It is run on a not for profit basis therefore if you are able to help in anyway with the site (for example adding a link to the site or sending us an article) please do get in touch through the 'contact' button at the top of the site.